Season*

Inspection Made

Camp Wauwepex, Wading River, July 27—This Suffolk County hide-out for the Boy Scouts of Nassau County is now in full swing with a registration of boys that surpasses that of any year since 1929 and everything points to this season as the season of seasons. Old Deer Pond, the lake of delightful waters, and the entire camp has been inspected by members of the Camping Committee of Nassau Council which consists of Lucien C. Stanley, chairman, Rockville Centre; Albert Z. Gray, Locust Valley; E. R. Shute, Floral Park; Dr. E. C. Smith, Woodmere; N. S. Standish, Baldwin; Robert W. Sykes Jr., Bellmore; Dr. A. D. Jaques, Lynbrook; J. Dwight Rogers, Mineola; John J. Denning, Lynbrook; Carl J. Lord, Port Washington; F. Howard Covey, Great Neck, and Carl Stedman Brown, president of the Council, ex-officio. This committee each year makes this inspection before the camp is opened and makes such recommendations as are necessary to keep the high standard for health and safety that Camp Wauwepex has maintained under its director, F. Howard Covey, for the past 16 years. This inspection is in addition to that made by the health authorities each season and during the camping period.

The program and the camp slogan "happiness" this year appeals to the boys which is evident by the tremendous amount of awards made at camp so far this season.
